

2025 Registration changes are now mandated.

Have you chosen your CPD home?

Doctors must join an Australian Medical Council (AMC) approved CPD home to maintain medical registration.

Since 1 January 2024, Australian doctors must comply with the Medical Board of Australia's revised Registration Standard: Continuing professional development (the Standard) and join an Australian Medical Council (AMC) approved CPD home.

What are CPD homes?

CPD homes are AMC accredited providers that help doctors meet the Standard.

Your CPD home will help you to plan and track CPD activities relevant to your scope of practice, and report your annual compliance to Ahpra.

Does this affect me?

Australian registered doctors who are now required to subscribe to a CPD home include:

-  Doctors who hold Specialist registration (including GPs)
-  Doctors who hold General registration*
-  IMGs with Limited/Provisional registration*
-  PGY3+ doctors*

*Excludes those on a specialist pathway

Mandatory CPD requirements

To meet the Standard, you are required to:

1. write a CPD plan
2. meet the minimum hour requirements across the two domains of learning (below), including high-level CPD requirements approved by MBA where relevant to your registered scope of practice
3. reflect on your planned learning goals at the end of the CPD year.

AMA CPD Home will submit your CPD compliance to the Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency (Ahpra).
